Dan Christopher began his legal career in the Denver District Attorney's office, prosecuting state criminal cases from 1974 until 1979, when he joined the U.S. Attorney's office in Colorado to prosecute federal cases. In 1981, Dan formed Kennedy and Christopher, P.C., a litigation defense firm that would quickly grow into a Colorado powerhouse. Over the next 24 years, Mr. Christopher made a name for himself in the courtroom as his practice began to focus on the defense of medical professionals in malpractice suits.

In 2005, Dan left then-named Kennedy, Christopher, Childs & Fogg, P.C., to take the lead job of Regulatory Counsel to ClearChoice Holdings L.L.C., a position in which he could apply decades of practical experience in shaping healthcare policy. After a successful turn with that company, he returned to his first love of courtroom practice in 2012.

Dan has tried over scores of civil jury trials to verdict, been active in local and state bar associations, ABOTA, clinic professorships, and the Faculty of Federal Advocates.
