Ms. Hass' broad practice experience started after law school with municipal prosecution. After two years advocating for the City of Lakewood, she took the first of two judicial clerkships in Arapahoe County where she assisted in the preparation and decisions on civil dockets.

In her first foray into civil litigation, Laura joined TAM in 2004 as an associate and rotated through most of the firm's practice groups, including construction litigation, general tort defense, and workers' compensation employer defense, handling the latter in the state's exclusive workers' compensation administrative courts.

Laura struck out to form her own firm in 2011, where she continued her civil practice and added bankruptcy litigation and trusts and estates to her skillset. Ms. Hass' practice and client-centered advocacy led to her later managing the Colorado office of a regional firm as it expanded nationally.

Rejoining TAM in 2015, Laura brings her thorough and methodical approach to civil defense in service to clients of every type and businesses of every size.
